Speedibake

A photograph of several golden-brown baguettes on a dark grey surface. One baguette in the foreground is cut into three pieces, revealing a thick, creamy garlic spread with green herbs inside. In the background, there are several whole garlic bulbs and some loose garlic cloves.

Garlic Breads

To make great garlic bread, we first of all bake our own baguettes before either portioning them into individual slices or leaving them whole. We then coat the slices or fill the baguettes with delicious garlic spread. Great as a meal accompaniment or a starter for a multitude of dishes!
